

Welcome to TEKsystems

Congratulations on your new assignment!

We'd like to cordially invite you to join the TEKsystems Community. The Community is just one way we're looking to build a long-term partnership with you. Think: full transparency and direct visibility into the most important information you need to help manage and grow your career at TEKsystems.

Your personal invitation:

Keep an eye out for a personal email invite to the Community with a unique login link. This will arrive in your inbox within a week of your start date. Your recruiter will follow up to make sure you received your invite and were able to log in.

Our mission? Partnership that's always tuned in Career transformation and continuous opportunity is a hands-on proposition. We're in this together:

- Your end date is posted directly on your homepage. You can check the status of your current assignment whenever and wherever you'd like.
- You now can see all open opportunities. All of them, not just the small portion we share on our website.
- See recommended jobs that match to your skills, goals and interests on your profile.
- Learn about, save and apply for new opportunities on your schedule that are relevant to your skill set, and more importantly, that you're interested in.

QUESTIONS?
